Corporation Court.

[Judge L. C. Barley presiding.] The docket called and cases fixed. The grand jury was fixed at twelve with Samuel H. Lunt as foreman.

The following charge was delivered by

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: You are representative citizens and deeply interested in the welfare of the community, and I would have you realize the responsibility which now rests upon you. You are the investigating branch of the court and the people look to you for something more than a mere perfunctory discharge of your duty. The court is powerless to detect and bring to punishment those who violate and defy the law and disturb the peace of the community except through you, and I expect you not only to consider and investigate carefully the matters which will be brought to your attention but any other matter of which you may have knowledge. And expecially do I desire you to send for witnesses and investigate the suspicious shooting of John T. Ryan, which occurred in a saloon in this city on the first day of October, 1903, and also the suspicious shooting of Gos Robinson, which occurred in a saloon of this city on Saturday night last, and if possible, bring the guilty parties before the court. In this connection, I desire you to send for and examine the proprietors of both of these places and report to the court whether in your opinion they have knowledge of the persons doing the shooting and are concealing the same, and I also desire you to investigate as to the character of any other bar rooms which, in your judgment, need investigation. Any witnesses that you may desire will be sent for and your investigation into all matters will be facilitated in every way. This is a regular term of the grand jury of this court and as such it is my duty to give you in charge the section of the law in reference to the sale of ardent spirits, wines, malt judnors, or any mixtures thereof, and it is my duty to send before your body the constables and the Commissioner of Revenue with a view to assecrtaining if any person in this city is engaged in the sale of liquors without a license or of any violation of the revenue laws of the State, prohibiting the sale of liquors without a license, or of any violation of the revenue laws

The grand jury returned the follow ing indictments : True bills against Howard L. Adams, for grand larceny; Howard L. Adams, for stealing a horse; Geo. Boston, for robbery; seven indict-ments against Carl Mander, for breaking and entering railroad car; ten indict-ments against Frederick Strobel; two indictments against Frank Jeffries, and indictments against Frank Jehres, and indictments against William Carter, Ollie Simpson, Wm. German and Wm. J. Carter for same offense above.

Another Mysterious Shooting.

Another mysterious shooting affair occurred last Saturday night, this time in William Wade's saloon, northwest corner of Wolfe and Columbus streets, and Augustus Robinson, a young man who received a bullet in the right shoulder, refuses to divulge the name of his assailant or to give any details of the affray. Officers Young and Nicholson ing, but it was impossible to obtain any positive information from him. He says he was in Wade's saloon early Sat-urday night and started to leave by way of the Wolfe street door when he heard two pistol sho's. He averred that he did not know he was shot until he reached home, although his coat was burned by the discharge and a bullet imbedded so deeply in his shoulder that Dr. Delaney was unable to secure it. Robinson further said that a strange man was in the saloon at the time, but man was in the saloon at the time, but he could not say positively who shot him. The police found that one ball from the pistol passed through a slot machine and another penetrated a graphophone. The injured man showed no concern whatever in the matter, and his answers to the Mayor's another was his answers to the Mayor's queries were given in an unconcerned manner. The ice in a part of the channel of the river was on the move today, and passed up and down with the tide. That in the docks and on the flats, however, is still immovable and is affording excellent skating. The steamer Washington from Norfolk arrived up on time this morning. Her officers report the ice as running as far down as Blackistone's Island and affording less impediment to steamers.

The Weems line is about to award a contract for a speedy and palatial steamboat, which will make the number of steamers in this fleet, the oldest steam-boat line in the United States, 10 passenger and freight carriers. The new vessel is to excel, in comfort and sea worthiness, any passenger steamboat now running out of Baltimore.

The drifting ice has torn the masts out of the sunken schooner American Patriot, lying off River View. As soon as the river opens the United States army engineers' office will take steps to have the vessel removed from the channel. Capt. Geoghegan, formerly master of the steamers of the Weems line, is again this winter in command of the ice boat Latrote, employed in breaking the ice about Baltimore harbor and along the Patapsco river.

After Coal Gatherers.

It is said that detectives employed by the railway companies have obtained the names of numbers of persons who have recently taken coal from cars. The offenses have been committed from Cam-eron run bridge in Fairfax county to Fishtown and Jones's point in this city. The representatives of the company say the defense of the accused parties to the effect that railway employees assented to their procedure in gleaning cars of coal is by no means valid, from the fact that the fuel was not the property of the employees. The names of the offenders will be handed over to the Corporation Court this week.
